Environmental Impact Assessment for Projects

11–13 June 2018

INTRODUCTION

Environmental Impact Assessment for developmental projects helps in addressing the environmental aspects in a proactive way during the project life cycle - site selection, construction and operational stages. EIA is to give the environment its due place in the decision making process by clearly evaluating the environmental consequences of the proposed activity before action is taken. The key objectives of good EIA report are:

- ◆ To present to the project proponent and decision makers a clear assessment of potential impacts
- ◆ To ensure that potential environmental problems are foreseen and avoided at an early stage in planning cycle so as to pre-empt problems
- ◆ Early identification and characterization of critical environmental impacts allow the public and the government to form a view about the environmental acceptability of a project and what conditions should apply to mitigate impacts

REGULATORY FRAMEWORK

Recognizing the need for environmental appraisal for certain developmental projects, the Ministry of Environment, Forest & Climate Change, Government of India had promulgated regulatory framework under the provisions of Environmental (Protection) Act 1986.

EIA Notification 2006: Environmental appraisal is made mandatory for certain developmental projects. The listed projects are required to prepare EIA document and undergo public consultation process.

CRZ Notification 2011: CRZ clearance is mandatory for the projects coming up in CRZ area. These projects are also required to prepare EIA document.

OBJECTIVES OF THE PROGRAMME

- ◆ To enhance the knowledge on environmental appraisal and to update on the latest protocols of the Ministry

- ◆ To enhance the knowledge on EIA report - baseline data, aspects, mitigation planning and additional studies.
- ◆ To enhance the knowledge on reviewing the EIA report for its adequacy

STRUCTURE OF THE PROGRAMME

Regulations: Due diligence on applicable regulations, norms and protocols is one of the key factor in the preparation of the EIA Report and to establish that the proposed project meets the regulations.

Current Practices and Procedures related to obtaining Environmental Clearance, CRZ Clearance, NOC from Central Ground Water Authority and Forest Clearance.

Baseline Data: Planning for baseline data collection of various environmental aspects. Type of data to be generated and reporting for better appreciation and use in the decision making process.

Aspects and Mitigation Planning: Identification of sector specific aspects and addressing through mitigation planning.

Additional Studies: Identification and planning for site specific and project specific studies.

Case Studies: Participants will be provided on hand experience on “How” and “What” to review “EIA Report” for its adequacy through group discussion and presentation.

ABOUT ASCI

The Administrative Staff College of India (ASCI, <http://www.asci.org.in>) was established in 1956 at the joint initiative of both the Government of India (GoI) and the industry, as an autonomous, self-supporting, public-purpose institution, with the objectives of being a think tank for policy inputs and to build the capacities of practicing professionals in the management of government and business enterprises. ASCI is the first and foremost institution for practising managers in India. It conducts about 200 Management Development Programmes (MDPs) per year, on a variety of functional management areas, theme-specific domains and sectoral disciplines. About 4,000 participants benefit from these programmes every year. As on date, more than 140,000 civil servants as well as executives from the industry have been trained by the College.

ASCI has to its credit, the experience of successfully conducting a two-year full-time Post Graduate Diploma in Management (Hospital Administration) programme for candidates aspiring for a career in the health-care management profession. This programme, approved by the All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE), is currently catering to the ninth batch of students.

Similarly, ASCI is the chosen advisory and research destination for about 100 international and national organizations, year on year.

The ASCI Library is acknowledged as one of the finest in the country for its collections on a wide array of management topics. The library provides access to electronic information resources including databases, virtual library, and other internet-based resources through its intranet.
